Pass the Parcel

Buy small “gift” – a box of chocolates for group to share at the end or something – print questions on stickers and then each layer of wrap has a question on each side – the outside questions begin with “who has recently...” – whoever answers this gets the parcel to unwrap 1 layer – they answer the more personal question on the inside layer of the same piece of wrap and then read the new “who has recently...” question and pass on the gift to whomever answers it. The leader must ensure everyone takes a turn so that same person does not dominate, as most questions can be answered by many members.
